ON THE GRIDIRON

(By Frank G. Menke)

A glance at the football records of all the big colleges since the game was introduced shows what a wonderful record has been made by Yale.

Other college eleven have at times performed some startling stunts, but no eleven, over a long stretch of years have been as consistent winners as the eleven that have fought under the blue and white standard of Yale.

Football first was played at Yale in 1872, and since that time up to the today's game Yale mingled in 384 gridiron battles. Yale won 311 of those 384 games, was tied in 19 others and only 24 times over a stretch of 42 years have the Yale colors been lowered in defeat.

Yale has averaged defeat on an average of about once in two years. Yale in 384 games has lost but 24—an average of 15 victories to every defeat. Certainly Yale's football record is a glorious one.

Since the game of football has been played Yale has won the undisputed championship 12 times and on 12 other occasions it went through the season unbeaten but because one or two other teams were unbeaten during those years Yale's claim to the championship was disputed.

Neither Harvard or Princeton, the powerful rivals of Yale have records that can compare with Yale's when all things are taken into consideration. Princeton's record for 46 years including the complete record for 1914 shows 353 games played, and of these 306 were victories, 39 ended in defeats and 14 were tied.

Harvard since 1874 and up to today's battle with Yale has played 369 games. Of these 392 were victories, 47 defeats and eleven were tied.

But these facts must be taken into consideration. Yale has played against both Harvard and Princeton almost each year since she started footballing, while Princeton and Harvard broke off athletic relations for a stretch of nearly 20 years. That meant that during those 20 years Yale played its two strongest foes each year, while Harvard and Princeton played only against Yale. Had Harvard and Princeton fought against each other during all the years that they have been footballing, it is certain that the records of each would have shown more defeats.

Rutgers, the little New Jersey college, began playing football in 1869—the same year as Princeton and those two colleges are the pioneers in the football world.

Michigan was the first college in the west to adopt football, taking up the game in 1878.

Here are records concerning some of the biggest colleges showing what they have done in a football way since they took up the game:

RELEASE LAST OF MURDER QUARTET

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 20—Walter C. McAllister, who with Andrew Campbell, George Kerr and Walter A. Beach was convicted of drugging and murdering Jennie Roscheller in Patterson in 1901, were liberated from the New Jersey State prison today by the board of prison inspectors. McAllister is the last of the quartet to leave the prison. The court of pardons had refused McAllister's plea for clemency a dozen times.

Miss Roscheller was a mill hand. After meeting the men in a saloon in Patterson, it was brought out at the trial that the girl had been drugged and maltreated. Her body was placed in a cab and laid in an open lot. Roscheller rested on the four men and the cab driver weakened and confessed.

Eddie Renz and Fred Kaiser Expect to Break Walking Records Again Soon

KAISER & RENZ

New York, Nov. 21—Eddie Renz of the Mohawk Athletic club, and Fred Kaiser of the New York A. C., will probably appear November 28 in the contest under the auspices of the Irish-American Athletic club, and their friends are wondering if they will again lower records. A few days ago in a meet held by the Walkers club of America they lowered the American indoor walking records for every mile from 12 to 25. These records were made by James Clark of the Harlen A. C. and had stood since 1889. Renz covered the 25 miles in 3:52.11. The previous record was 4:03.26. Kaiser's time for the distance was 3:55.45. They were both going strong at the finish, Renz doing the last mile in 8:59, almost as good as he did the first mile.

DAILY SPORT LETTER

New York, Nov. 20.—A terrific but little for a $15,000 stake will be fought on or about Dec. 9th in the fashionable Waldorf-Astoria Hotel between Charles Hercules Helms, "The Philadelphia Squire," and Garrulous Garry Herrmann, the "Pride of Cincinnati." The National League will act as referee.

The title to the $15,000 once was owned by Charles Hercules. That was about a year ago. In a moment of generosity, Charles purchased a fickle ball player from Garrulous Garry. The fickle one's name was—and is—Joseph Paversham Tinker. Charles as many may remember turned a check for $15,000 over to Garrulous Garry for Joe Tinker and other valuable consideration.

But Charles never got Joe. Nor did he get any of the "valuable consideration." All Charles ever got was a hearty horse laugh. A horse laugh is worth something but Charles did not think it worth $15,000. Therefore, Charles demanded his $15,000 back from Garry.

"Fine chance—fine chance," answers the Garrulous party. "I sold Tinker to you for $15,000. Taint my fault that Tinker flopped to the Feds. Why should I turn back the $15,000? Why should I? I shouldn't and I won't. The $15,000 is mine, forever and over, amen."

$15,000 is $15,000 and no one knows that any better than the "Flatbush Squire." He—the Squire didn't mind parting with $15,000 for the privilege of acquiring a star ball player, but when he got nothing but the privilege for that $15,000—(the Feds doing no acquiring)—he pined Charles quite a bit. And Charles continued to yell for the return of that $15,000.

"I turned over $15,000 for a player and I didn't get the player, so why shouldn't I get my money back?" has been the all-season yell of Charles Hercules.

"I didn't sell with the satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded condition," has been the answer of the "Pride of Cincinnati."

Pulling to soften the atony heart of the czar of the Ohio River section, Charles appealed his case to the National League. The League decided that the only way to settle the question was to bring the squabbling pair before it, arm the boys with the necessary weapons and let them go to it before the assembled directors of the League. The League to act as referee and the winner of the bout is, take it.

Pinky Tenor of the National League is preparing to jump into the baseball ring with high feet. Tenor's job as Governor of Pennsylvania expires Dec. ember 1st. Immediately afterward he will take full control of the National League helm and will continue as pilot for three years to come.

Tenor was elected for a four year term as National League president last year which ends Dec. 31st because he was holding down the governorship job. But from Jan. 1, 1915, until the end of his term he will receive $25,000 a year.

Tenor's office will be in Philadelphia but he also will maintain headquarters in New York.

Connie Mack, once the idol of Philadelphia, isn't what he used to be, his action in asking wagers on Bender, Plank and Coombs has turned the Quaker City fadman against him. In other words, Mack, although decidedly Irish is "in Dutch" in dear old Philadelphia.

Bender, Plank and Coombs were among the most popular of the Athletic players and the fact that they never again will fight under the Mack standard has soured fandom on the man who is responsible for it.

Mack may have his reasons. He cites a few and calls them "good reasons." But in Philadelphia the fans do not agree with him. They think otherwise and right now there is talk of boycotting the Athletics park next summer.

If Pat Moran can get the Phillies into a fairly lively stride next season it seems certain that the Phillies will have the attendance bugle.

RUSSIAAS ARE GIVING WAY IN POLAND

Petrograd, Nov. 20.—Great masses of German troops are being poured in to Russian Poland in support of Gen. Von Hindenburg's attempt to crush the Russian forces thrown back after their advance toward Thorn.

It is admitted here the German troops have now advanced approximately 50 miles into Russian territory. The Czar's troops have retreated in good order before them. Desperate fighting has marked the line of retreat. Two other actions of great importance are also now in full swing—one on the Czenstochowa-Cracow line and the other in East Prussia. The advance upon Cracow continues in progress, it is stated here.

In East Prussia the Russian troops are declared to have advanced four miles beyond Angerburg. Fighting is still in progress in the Mazurian lake region. The capture of a score of guns and many prisoners is reported from the Russian headquarters.

The immediate objective of Gen. von Hindenburg's army advancing through Poland apparently is Lowicz. This town is on the main railroad from Warsaw and only 40 miles from the capital of the Polish province.

The Russian war office has admitted a retreat along the river Bzura between Kutno and Lowicz. Kutno is 20 miles to the west of Lowicz. The German force which defeated the Russians at Kutno, to the south of Thorn, is endeavoring to reach Lowicz. This point is 30 miles northwest of Lowicz and on a direct railroad line from that point.

Repulse French Attack Near Verdun
Berlin, Nov. 20.—The German troops have repulsed a French attack near Verdun, France, and in the east the Russian retreat in northwestern Poland continues, according to an official communication issued today by the German general army headquarters.

Armentieres in Flames; Allies Hard Hit
Paris, Nov. 20.—Tremendous pressure is being exerted on the allied line from Ypres to La Bassee. Armentieres has been partially destroyed by the German bombardment. A great section of the town is in flames.

It appears Armentieres may be leveled, as Neuport and Dixmude have been, in the attempt of the Germans to find a weak spot in the lines of the French and British through which to break toward the coast.

The British troops north of Arras have launched vigorous offensive movements against the Germans. A constant artillery fire has been kept up and determined charges by the Germans repulsed at the very brink of the trenches. The British have then endeavored to advance, but their forward movement has been slow and uncertain. The bombardment from the coast to Ypres continues with no change in the lines.

All reports indicate the Germans have found Dixmude, which they continue to hold, one of the hottest spots along the entire battle line. The town has been knocked to pieces. The warships are declared to be dropping shells into the German positions there and the forcing of the allies from this point has been of little advantage.

New guns have been brought up by the Germans, but have so far been kept to the rear. The enemy evidently does not intend to run the risk of buying these guns, so long as those now in position are able to hold the present line.

Many heavy guns have been lost by the Germans in the floods in Flanders. The official communication today, in stating this declares the artillery fire from the coast to the Lys slackened somewhat yesterday. Snow is falling again in Flanders and the bad weather prevented any infantry attacks being made by the enemy.

The Germans followed up their advantage at Chauvancourt, in the region of St. Mihiel, and have re-occupied the village. It was at Chauvancourt that the French met with a disaster when they occupied the western section of the town, after driving out the Germans. The town had been mined and the French were blown up. The operations in the Argonne have been without incident, the statement of today declares.

It is learned here that Nov. 18 the Germans attempted a raid on the locks at Bruges, which are built in a semicircle. Their attack which was conducted in a number of armored automobiles, was repulsed.

The fortifications which have been constructed all through West Flanders for use in case of an eventual German retreat evidently now are completed, for the troops employed in their construction have all gone to the front.

Terror Goeben Out of Commission

London, Nov. 20.—The German cruiser Goeben, admittedly the terror of the allies in the Black sea, is confidently believed here to be at least temporarily out of commission. Although contradictory reports have been received of the naval engagement of Turkish and Russian ships, the Russian statement that the Goeben was struck amidships by a 12-inch shell and seen to be ablaze is accepted as indicating the injury to the cruiser was serious. The Russians admit the Goeben was able to escape, owing to her great speed. The fire is said to have been extinguished, but it is felt certain the Goeben's wounds will surely keep her out of action for some time.

Particular satisfaction is felt in England over the blow dealt the Goeben, it was on account of her feat of escaping from under the guns of the allied ships in the Mediterranean that a British admiral was tried by court-martial. He was acquitted, but British naval pride was pricked by the escape of the Goeben. The Breslau, which, also, escaped with the Goeben, is likewise reported to have been on the scene of the Black Sea fight. She did not stay to give battle, however, and escaped. The Russian report of the battle makes no mention of any serious damage to either of her battleships, which, with four cruisers, attacked the Goeben. A report from Berlin asserts that one was badly damaged. The Russian official statement asserts the damage to the flagship was insignificant.

"Sit Tight" Waiting Word from the Tennessee.
Washington, Nov. 20.—Naval department officials today continued their desperate efforts to get into touch with the cruiser Tennessee to obtain further facts of the Turkish firing on that cruiser's launch in Smyrna harbor.

While hoping for early communication Secretary of the Navy Daniels remained firm in his insistence that the shot was undoubtedly "friendly." President Wilson today had in his possession all facts concerning the recent movements of the Tennessee and North Carolina that the navy department knows. Likewise the state department had informed him thoroughly of all the Turkish news and views in its possession. He was keeping the closest watch for developments, but in common with other officials, mainly talked there is thus far nothing to cause alarm. The attitude of the administration was to "sit tight" waiting further news.

German Losses Put at 1,250,000
London, Nov. 20.—Berlin military circles estimate the German losses to date at 1,250,000 in killed, wounded and missing, according to a Copenhagen dispatch received here today. This estimate does not include at least a half-million sick. The official casualty lists, including those of Saxony, Wurttemberg and Bavaria, admit losses of 980,000.

London, Nov. 20.—The House of Commons today formally passed the vote for the supplementary army estimate, which provides for an additional army of 1,000,000 men.

This is the additional million men mentioned by Premier Asquith in the House of Commons last Monday. It is quite apart from the territorial, and is additional to the 1,000,000 men now said to be under arms.

Referring to the supplementary estimate, Harold J. Tennant, under-secretary of state for war, said the official view was that this further million men ought to be sufficient, so far as the government was able to see at present to crown British arms with success.

He declined to give the actual numbers of men enlisted, but he said the figures recently given by the prime

CASCARETS FOR BOWELS, STOMACH HEADACHE, COLDS

Clean your liver and constipated bowels to-night and feel fine.

Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage every few days with cathartics, pills or castor oil? This is important. Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascaret (to-night) will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleaning, too.

ministers, which were, roughly, in the neighborhood of 1,000,000, were below rather than above the actual total. The present idea of the war office, Mr. Tennant continued, was to duplicate the territorial force, making one battalion for home defence, and the other for foreign service.

With regard to the suggestions that Lord Kitchener's army of recruits should be treated differently than the professional soldiers, Mr. Tennant remarked: "The chief characteristic of Lord Kitchener is not sentiment and not even persuasive eloquence. These advocates of differential treatment would make him change his decision in a matter on which he feels strongly."

FINE PICTURES BY MISS KNOX.

In the Season's First Exhibition at the Gillis Galleries—Several Local Portraits Included.

The first exhibition of the autumn at the Gillis Galleries consists of pictures by Miss Susan Ricker Knox whose exhibit there last spring proved so interesting. Although Miss Knox is particularly known as a portraitist of children, whose charms and solemnity she paints delightfully, she offers also a number of portraits of adults in which she reveals as great a command of character. The "Miss Hester Barrows," "After a Successful Game" and "Mr. Paul Woodward" are all strongly presented personalities. The ensemble of the portrait of Miss Barrows is striking, and one notices particularly the softness in the hair and the beautiful blue of the dress. The picture of Mr. A. H. Newhall in "After a Successful Game" shows the subject seated beside a picturesque window, and in the attitude and accessories there is the suggestion of the pose of a moment happily caught. The portrait of Mr. Woodward is quieter, but equally definite in its character.

The dignified picture of Mrs. J. H. Knox, the artist's mother, and the gently charming one of Mrs. A. H. Messinger will be welcomed by those who saw the collection of Miss Knox's pictures last spring. From the former exhibition a few others also are shown. "The Young Mother," "Babyhood" and the delicious "Infant Philosopher," who in this year accompanied by another baby as fascinating in the "Gondy-Two-Shoes and Satin," whose expression is enchantingly full of baby determination.

One of the most interesting and attractive of her portraits is that of Miss Mary Hammond, which is full of personality beautifully expressed. The painting of the eyes, the fluffy hair, the rather dark warm color, especially and deservedly draw attention.

Miss Knox has painted several Rochester children whose portraits are shown: Miss Jane Simon, Miss Mary Sage, Miss Kathryn Clark and Masters Langdon and Gardner Smith will be more to interest, while "The Tea Party" and "Fairy Tales" give pleasing suggestions of childish occupations.

The "Miss Virginia Neal" which is not quite finished and the "Master Frederick" illustrated herewith, show Miss Knox's success in presenting truthfully the characteristics of still another period of childhood and are extremely attractive.

A few sea views and landscapes are hung with the portraits and these reveal the artist in a new guise. "The Turn of the Tide" shows a group of sailing boats resting lightly on palid still water, a picture with a touch of the mystery of those pale moonshore days. In "The Grey Morning" hunt and blue sea and overcast sky are shown with "From Cape Needles" gives brown rocks and a sweep of happy blue ocean. The "Coventry Hall Gateway" is the white fence and gate of an old New England house with brick steps and a hint of a pleasant white home, all on a sunny day. "Elderflower" shows a child seated beside a blooming elderberry bush on the steps that lead up to the artist's bungalow and studio at York Harbor, Me. Several other bits of sea and bloom add to the attractiveness of the exhibition which is to remain until the 11th of next month. —Rochester, N. Y., Post-Express.

SEIZED FAST YACHT

New York, Nov. 20.—The fast steam yacht, Winchester, which Peter W. Rogers is reported to have sold to a foreign power through Cox & Stevens, has been seized by the United States Government as she was about to steam away from her anchor off Stapleton, N. J., and make her way out to sea.

The new wireless plant on the yacht has been dismantled by men from the revenue cutter Cabotnet and others from the cutter Seneca now have charge of the boat.

Capt. John White, at the head of the New York division of the revenue cutter service, refused today to explain the seizure of the Winchester. It is reported, however, that the action was taken on orders from Washington.

An officer of the Seneca said today that the Winchester and the Kanawha formerly belonged to the late H. H. Rogers of the Standard Oil, and had been purchased by the British Government to be used in carrying supplies to warships operating off the American coast. The Winchester, he said, had obtained no license for the wireless outfit which was dismantled.

If the Winchester and Kanawha have been sold to a belligerent it would be an infraction of neutrality to let them leave this country. It is believed that the United States Government has information indicating that such an unneutral sale has been made.

The Kanawha is at the Tlojen and Long drydock and apparently no effort is now being made to rush her preparations for sailing.

The rain and snow delayed the finish of the paving contract, but the concrete was all cleared Friday and the surface will be finished by tonight as cold weather does not effect the top.

B.C. CANCE FOR AMERICAN TRADE

Petrograd, Nov. 20.—The failure of the United States to enter into immediate negotiations for a new trade treaty with Russia is causing considerable surprise in Petrograd.

When, over a month ago, officials here understood that preliminary steps would be taken by the United States to sound the Russian Foreign Office on the subject of trade relations and ascertain whether proposals pointing toward the formulation of a new treaty would be welcome, the Minister of Foreign Affairs took the view that Russia stood ready to receive such proposals, and that they would be received in the most friendly spirit by the Russian Government, which was anxious to reopen, or more properly, to extend the commercial relations with America.

In the Foreign Office here it was taken for granted that this would be the preface to immediate action by the United States. According to information from the Foreign Office, the terms of the new treaty have not been discussed, but it was suggested that these would be most favorable to the United States.

Great Chance for Americans

"An evidence of our good faith," said M. Hatzmoff, Minister of Foreign Affairs, "we are already allowing American the commercial privileges enjoyed by those countries whose treaties with us contain the most favored Nation clause."

"America has here an unparalleled opportunity, Russia offers a wide field for the particular kind of products—machinery, medical apparatus, electrical supplies—in which American specializes.

"The field is lost to Germany. Russia herself cannot hope at once to develop these necessities. France and England can help, but they have not the same qualifications as America, which is especially adapted to supplying the Russian market."

Awaiting Proposals

"We are, therefore, awaiting with great interest, the proposals of the United States. Until there are made our attitude cannot be more than one of friendly receptivity. Meanwhile, however, there is no reason why American exports to Russia should not be increased without awaiting for the treaty to be ratified."

"It will come eventually, we hope, but it is not now essential as a basis for increased trading. Without the formal signing of a treaty, we are willing to offer every reasonable inducement and encouragement to American merchants."

"The American exports to this country could be increased tenfold, if the magnitude of the present opportunity was realized in America, there would be no hesitation."

German Monopoly Over

It is pretty well agreed in Russia that, whatever the results of the war, the German monopoly of commercial and technical activity is ended and at the same time it is realized that Russia herself is incapable of furnishing the agricultural machinery and equipment for one-sixth of the habitable globe.

Russian business men argue that France is primarily an agricultural and banking people, that England produces a high grade of textiles, which Russia does not require and is too unserviceable to adapt herself to new and unusual requirements.

A Foolish Contention.

A newspaper published in a large eastern city asks why the price of beef is high and allows a cattleman to answer the question. His answer is: "Because cattle are high. Cattle are high because grazing land is high, and grazing land is high because every year in the western part of the United States more and more of it is plowed up and cultivated."

The paper then goes on to say that farmers find quicker profits in grains, fruits and vegetables than in raising stock and waiting for it to reach "beef size," and that as a consequence thousands of calves are slaughtered which would make beef if kept until they attained "beef size."

There is no dodging the truth of this, but it must not be forgotten that this question, like all others, has more than one side, and that all must be looked upon before a final decision is reached. If grazing land is high how are these thousands of calves to be grown to maturity at a cost that would make beef cheap? That is one question that must be answered before we jump to the conclusion that the secret of dear beef in this country is the simple fact that not more calves are raised.

This idea that the beef problem could be solved by stopping the killing of calves is not new. It was advanced several years ago by some one who thought he had made an important discovery, and there was even talk in some states of passing a law compelling the farmers to raise their calves.

But no such law was passed and never will be. The farmers still have some rights that must be respected, and one is the right to manage their business in their own way. It is admitted that agriculture is the basis of the country's prosperity, and it must also be admitted that the great majority of farmers know their business better than any one else. Consequently when the newspaper referred to questions the moral right, of farmers to kill their calves, "if shortage of food and increase of the cost of living must result for the public in general," it is shooting very wide of the mark.

Upon the heels of the discovery of a secret wireless station in the Maine woods comes the rumor that there is a similar establishment in the wilds of Southern Florida, and a search is now being made for that. Just what these stations were established for is not made known, but the natural presumption is that they have some connection with the "wah."

The automobile has put the bicycle practically out of business, but the six-day bicycle race still holds its own in New York city, where a number of riders are pumping away for dear life this week. Americans dearly love a contest in any form, and as long as they are willing to pay the price the contests will be provided.

War and big business appear to be the greatest forces for prohibition today. Most of the nations at war are denying stimulants to their armies, and now Governor Goethals of the Panama zone rules that persons employed on the canal must be total abstainers. Thus is rum having "the fight of its life"—in spots.

There is complaint in this country because a war tax of 50 cents a barrel has been placed on beer, but in England there is a proposed tax amounting to about one cent a glass. There is a big difference in the rates, but what ruffles Americans is the demand for war taxes when the country is not at war.

Secret service men are hunting for spurious $5 and $10 bills that have recently made their appearance. Most men are busily engaged in a similar chase, except that they are not stopping to ask about the genuineness of the paper.

The Panama canal cost more than $353,000,000, and yet most Americans consider it a good investment. It is not what a thing costs that measures the value of a bargain, but whether one gets the worth of his money.

Winter is distinctly edging this way, but there is no fault to be found. The fall has been exceptionally pleasant and it is only the ungrateful who will complain of the arrival of winter now at any time.

German Scout on Duty In Field, With Shelter From Aeroplanes.

The German military system provides for very careful scout and out-post duty. This picture shows a German outpost on duty in France. He was stationed in a field of wheat. He made a hiding place out of a stack of the unthrashed grain. With field glasses he kept watch for the advance of the enemy. Whenever an aeroplane hovered in sight he ducked into the hiding place and escaped detection.

NEW ENGLAND MONEY EASIER

Boston Is Only Reserve Bank to Receive Rate Change.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The Federal Reserve board announced tonight a change in the re-discount rate for the Boston Federal Reserve bank on 30-day paper from 6 per cent to 5 1/2 per cent, putting the Boston bank on the same footing as those in New York and Philadelphia.

This is the first change made since the rates to be charged by all the reserve banks were announced last week. This rate change was taken tonight to mean that money is easier in New England, and that virtually all the first installment of the reserves of the Boston bank are now in its vaults.

Several reserve banks suggested a change in their rates, but no action has been taken upon the others.

A BOOM FOR "UNCLE CY"

New York Republicans talk enthusiastically of running their newly elected governor, Mr. Whitman, for President of the United States, while Ohio Republicans are mentioning Frank P. Willis, another successful gubernatorial candidate in the same connection. Either of these men may be all right, but why not start a presidential boom for Uncle Joe Cannon or Hon. C. S. Sulloway, who are much more widely known, and have a longer string of political victories to their credit than these mushroom statesmen from New York and Ohio.—Lancaster Democrat.

LIFE'S CHANGES.

I had a million dollars once, And I was happy too. I gave much to the needy poor, Just as the rich should do.

I showered on my loving wife The things which gold will buy. I gave to all my relatives Much wealth without a sigh.

I traveled in far distant lands, I did not have to toil, I put some money into lots, And some I put in oil.

I was a happy man, indeed, And joy quite filled my cup. Until the old alarm clock had To go and wake me up.

ELUSIVE PROFITS.

"I make fine profit on those goods—ONLY I DON'T SELL ANY OF THEM," said the retailer wistfully.

The only profits that count are those which ring the cash register. Dealers would rather make small profits in practice than large ones in theory. Goods that sell over the counter and are favored by the retailer are meritorious national products advertised in daily newspapers. Retailers know that newspaper advertising sends purchasers to their stores. They know it is easier to sell the goods the public want than to waste effort on nondescripts for which there is no demand.

The Observer

Although the municipal election is only two weeks distant one does not hear as much political talk as would naturally be expected on the eve of an election. Perhaps it is due to the fact that both parties have not yet fully recovered from the recent state election which was in a measure a great surprise to both the Republicans and the Democrats. Mayor Harry B. Yeaton will again head the Republican ticket and it has been stated that Dr. Samuel T. Ladd would be his opponent, but those who are close to the medical man say that he is not desirous of running for the office.

In the event of Dr. Ladd's not accepting the nomination, it is said that the Democrats will choose as their standard-bearer ex-Mayor Daniel W. Badger. Mr. Badger is a vote getter and if nominated against Mayor Yeaton, the battle would be a royal one.

Over in Ward One, the sentiment is in favor of returning Robert M. Herrick as councilman from the ward, although it is said that Mr. Herrick is not desirous of the office. This ward has not been represented by a councilman at large, during the past year, and a candidate for the position will be presented to the city committee prior to the caucus. The ward committee will also present the name of a well known citizen of the ward as candidate for the board of public works. Ezra Oscar Pinkham, it is said, will be the Democratic candidate for ward councilman.

In Ward Two Councilman Borthwick, and Ward Three, Councilman Schurman, who are serving their first term, will be candidates for re-election. In Ward Five Councilman J. Verne Wood is mentioned as a probable candidate at large.

For the board of public works, Fred B. Hasty, the present democratic member, will be a candidate for re-election. Republicans mentioned in connection with the office are William A. Hodgdon, R. Clyde Margeson, and George B. Wallace.

The writer was talking with a well known veteran barber recently and during our conversation reference was made to persons who most invariably wait until Saturday to get their hair cut. Now while the writer has been guilty of such a misdemeanor, he never had the disadvantages of the same so fully explained. The barber stated that every Saturday hair cut was a loss to him, due to the fact that many persons who would wait while a man was in the chair getting shaved would look in the door and seeing a hair cut ahead, go elsewhere. In connection he also said that the customer did not always get the time devoted to a Saturday hair cut but that he would on any other week day when the barber was not so busy. So you can see that both barber and customers lose when you have your hair cut on Saturday.

The patrons of the Portsmouth street railroad miss the familiar face and cheering greeting of "Pa" Seavey, for many years a motorman on the road. The writer has ridden many miles on cars driven by Motorman Seavey and if all of the employees of the road were as careful in their work as Mr. Seavey it would be a pleasure to ride more. The policy, however, seems to be nowadays to supplant the old men with younger ones, even if they lack the experience gained by years.

If "Observer," "Box 58," and other contributors to the local press, who have been worrying their heads off for fear the members of the Franklin Pierce Veteran Firemen's Association would secure the old Armory for headquarters, should pay a visit to the headquarters on Maplewood avenue, they would readily see that the "Yells" have no intention of exchanging their comfortable quarters for a barn. The rooms on Maplewood avenue have been freshly painted and the walls adorned with a handsome paper and border and as busy quarters are occupied by any similar organization in New England. The members are contented with their surroundings and there is harmony in their ranks. All they desire is for the knackers to leave them alone.

If it is doubtful if any city or town in New England has a business man that can equal ex-Mayor John H. Broughton in point of service, On Nov. 4 Mr. Broughton completed 60 years of service at his place of business at the foot of Daniel street. He has conducted his business all of these years on strict business principles, his motto being "Pay as you go," and he attributes his success to this fact. If any other city possesses a business man of longer years of service at one stand, the Observer would be pleased to hear of his record.

One improvement that automobile manufacturers ought to bring about is along the line of making the rear seats on motor cars as comfortable in cold weather as are the front seats, says the Somersworth Free Press. The wind-shield makes the driver's seat very comfortable. It wards off the air, which pours around its edges on the occupants of the rear seat, perhaps in greater intensity than if there were no wind-shield in front. Thus while those on the front seat may be entirely comfortable even in cool November weather the rear seat occupants may be freezing with the cold wind penetrating their clothing at will. What is needed is a rear seat wind-shield which will protect the occupants from the cold and uncomfortable breezes. Such an improvement would make rear-seat

CURRENT OPINION

The Acted Drama Is the Most Powerful of All the Arts.

The world knows now that the theater, the acted drama, is not only an art, but the most powerful of all the arts, BECAUSE THE MOST POPULAR—BECAUSE OF THE MAGNETIC, ELECTRICAL EFFECT IT MAKES UPON THE PEOPLE, NOT ONLY THROUGH THE INTELLECT, BUT ALSO THROUGH THE SYMPATHETIC BEING OF THE HEART.

Thousands upon thousands of people who never read a book or attend a church continually go to the theater and are vitally influenced for good or for evil by what they see, hear and feel. What the late Rev. Dr. Henry W. Bellows of New York pointed out and hoped fifty years ago has come to pass.

ACTORS AND ACTRESSES THROUGHOUT THE ENGLISH SPEAKING WORLD OWE A DEBT OF GRATITUDE TO DR. BELLOW, NOT ONLY FOR HIS ABLE AND ELOQUENT DEFENSE OF THE DRAMA AND THEIR ART, BUT AS WELL, IN THIS PARTICULAR RESPECT, FOR WHAT HE DID FOR THE WHOLE COMMUNITY.

Since reading that "Defense" years ago I have never failed to raise my hat on passing All Saints' church, and I like to feel that all people of my calling who know of Dr. Bellows will be glad to do likewise.—By Francis Wilson, Actor and Playwright.

MOBILIZING OFF THE COAST OF CALIFORNIA

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 20.—That a number of British, Australian and Japanese warships are mobilizing off the coast of Lower California was the word brought here today by Captain Robert Israel of the ocean-going launch Nonesuch.

According to Israel the British protected cruiser Newcastle and the Japanese armored cruiser Idzuma were coaled off the Guadalupe Islands last Tuesday by the British liner Proteus. Israel does not know in what direction the cruisers steamed, after taking on fuel. The other warships southbound, whose nationalities he could not learn, were sighted. An unidentified foreign warship passed this port today also southbound.

It is generally supposed that the warships are mobilizing preparatory to steaming south to attack the German squadron under Admiral von Spee.

Jay Dawkins is a recent acquisition to the Vitagraph forces and plays opposite Flora Finch. This month makes it said to be a great likeness to John Bunny, the world-famous Vitagraph comedienne, both in profile and stature. It is the intention of the Vitagraph company to star their new comedy man in the best comedies obtainable and eventually he will be a great favorite with the people.

Allice Joyce is being featured in an unusually interesting series. Each installment is in two acts and is entirely independent of the preceding installment. That cannot be said of other serials, with the exception of "The Beloved Adventurer" or the Helen Holmes Railroad serial, by the Kalem company. In one installment of the Allice Joyce serial Allice Joyce wears $3,000.00 in gems and a gown costing $3,000, designed by the famous "Lucille" (Lucky Duff Gordon).

Rose Tapley, a prominent player with the Vitagraph company is accumulating a book of original poems, written by her own hand, which she intends to have published in the near future. Miss Tapley has no aspirations of becoming a poetess, but enjoys in telling stories in a poetic manner.

and her work has stood the test of critical analysis. Leah Baird and William Humphrey are playing the leads in many Vitagraph dramas at the present time. Leah Baird left the Vitagraph company to join the Imp company, where she played opposite King Baggot. However the Vitagraph call was heard in the distance and it impressed her so that she decided to return to her first love. She is a great favorite with the fans everywhere. She has exceptional beauty and talent. William Humphrey, one of the most versatile actors before the camera is becoming more popular each day. He can assume any role no matter how difficult and his acting gratifies the most exacting critic. The Vitagraph company selects excellent dramas, full of pathos and reality, but devoid of sensationalism.

The Labin company is the recipient of countless congratulations on its serial, "The Beloved Adventurer." This indicates that it is meeting with success wherever the serial is being shown. It is a credit to the Labin company and to the entire film world. The serial is very interesting and holds one's attention throughout each reel, one point that is very conspicuous is that each story is independent of the preceding one. The adventures of Lord Cecil are as thrilling and realistic in this serial as any other in the circuit. However, the Labin company should not receive all of the credit, neither should Lord Cecil (Arthur Johnson) be given the credit of the success; Emmet Campbell Hall, the writer, deserves much praise. He has tried and has been so successful, to have something out of the ordinary, full of interest, plenty of action and something that would be a credit to the company, himself and the players. Mr. Hall is fast becoming one of the foremost prolific scenario writers of this country and has been approached many times by various companies for flouting offers, but thus far he has valued them aside with the remark that he intends to stay by his "old love."

The Vitagraph company is filming "The Little Angel of Canon Creek," from the book of Cyrus Townsend Brundy. The book likewise the film story, is a strong, pathetic story of the influence of a child.

NEW YEAR'S IN CHINA.

When All Debts Are Paid and the Whole Country "Painted Red."

New Year's is the national pay day in China. All accounts must be squared up at that time, and the man who can't raise money enough to pay his debts has to go into bankruptcy. The laws are such that the creditor can enter the debtor's house and take what he pleases if there is no settlement. To prevent such action families club together and make all sorts of compromises to keep up the business reputation of the clan.

New Year's is a great day for the pawnbrokers. Their shops are crowded with people who want to redeem their best clothes before the new year. There are crowds, also, who want to pawn other things in order to get money to pay their debts. Pawnbrokers receive high rates of interest, in which they are protected by the government.

The Chinese paint the whole country red, figuratively speaking, on New Year's day in more senses than one. Red is the color which with them denotes good luck and prosperity, and all the New Year cards and invitations are on paper of that color. Every child gets its New Year's present wrapped in red paper, and red inscriptions are pasted over the doors of the houses.

These inscriptions bear characters, praying for good fortune, wealth and happiness, and they are posted on each side of the outer doors of the houses. New pictures of Chinese generals are put on the front doors, and the houses are scoured and made clean.—Exchange.

A PAINTERS' PARADISE.

Capri's Quaint Inn, Where Poor Artists Can Get Free Board.

Capri, beautiful in itself, offers an irresistible invitation to artists, since it has an inn where any one, by painting a picture on the wall, can get free board.

To the lovely island of Capri, with its perennial summer, its blue grotto and its lemon groves, came some fifty years ago a ruined artist. He opened an inn and died rich. In his will, leaving the inn to his heirs, he made these conditions:

"The charge per day, two bottles of red Capri wine included, is never to be more than 6 francs.

"If any artist is too poor to pay he shall paint a picture upon some wall space, receiving all the accommodation accorded to those paying the highest price.

"If any German artist shall come to the inn he shall be accommodated and shall receive the amount of his fare to Germany upon his promising never to return to Italy."

The inn is conducted today on these conditions. Its walls are covered with paintings. Now and then a German artist gets his fare home.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Her System.

"It takes my wife so long to dress when we want to go to the city that we always miss the train," complained the first suburbanite. "How is your wife? I don't hear you kick much."

"My wife has a system that isn't so bad," said the second suburbanite. "She's so late for one train that she's generally on time for the next."—Pittsburgh Post.

Not for years has dancing been so popular in this city as at the present time.

KILL DRUGGIST AND ROB STORE

Gunmen Calmly Walk Away After Shooting Brookline Business Man.

Brookline, Mass., Nov. 20.—Charles Merrill, manager of a drug store in an exclusive section of this town, was shot dead tonight during a robbery of the store by two roughly dressed men.

Flourishing their revolvers with threats of further shooting, the strangers leisurely rifled the cash register and then walking out of the door disappeared before anyone could interfere. The police of Boston and Cambridge united with those of Brookline in attempting to run down the two gunmen tonight.

According to the clerks, the two men entered the store, which is on a busy street, at a time when no customers were present. While one of them covered the clerks the other pointed a revolver at Merrill's head and ordered him to throw up his hands.

Merrill, the clerks told the police, asked: "Is this a joke?" The man then fired and Merrill sank to the floor, dead, with a bullet through his chest. Warning the clerk to keep quiet, the yegmen then robbed the cash register and vanished before any of the passersby were aware of what was taking place.

The robbers obtained only a small amount of money. Merrill was near the safe, which contained the week's receipts and locked the door shut when he saw the revolvers.

Merrill formerly lived in Worcester, coming here about three years ago.

STILL LACK DEFINITE FACTS

On Turkey's Attack on the Launch of the U. S. S. Tennessee.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Secretary Daniels received today messages from Captain Decker of the cruiser Tennessee and Captain Omar of the cruiser North Carolina, acknowledging receipt of his order that no action be taken by either ship in Turkish waters without specific instructions from Washington.

Neither commander supplied additional information concerning the shots that were fired at the Tennessee's launch at Smyrna several days ago, and the state department also still was without advices from Ambassador Morgenthau. Secretary Daniels said that he thought Captain Decker had sent as much information about the incident as was available to him, and probably now was waiting to get into communication with Ambassador Morgenthau before sending a complete report.

Close examination of Captain Decker's first message reveals that when the launch was fired upon from shore it immediately turned back to the ship which was several miles away near Vourla. From that point it is now supposed, Captain Decker reported to Mr. Morgenthau what had occurred and took the Tennessee to Greek waters, 50 or 60 miles distant, at the request of the ambassador, while the latter endeavored to get into communication with the central general at Smyrna and learn the exact cause of the firing.

State department officials estimated that from past delays in messages from Constantinople they should hear tomorrow or Sunday from Ambassador Morgenthau on the incident connected with the firing. They had no doubt, however, that all would be satisfactorily explained.

It is considered quite probable that as a result of the making of several Turkish ports and the sensitiveness of the Ottoman government on account of the presence of foreign warships even of neutral nations nearer coast, the American cruiser may be kept at Chios, Greece, or some of the numerous islands belonging to Greece which are but a half day's sail from Asia Minor. For the present the Tennessee is being held at Chios, while the North Carolina is at Beirut, Asia Minor.

The captain of the latter ship however sent his message to the navy department from Alexandria, Egypt. Both commanders have been asked to acknowledge receipt of Secretary Daniels' order, as officials here were particularly anxious that the naval commanders take no action of their own initiative, the navy regulations giving officers ordinarily wide discretion under such circumstances.

The Tennessee and North Carolina will not be withdrawn from the western Mediterranean. It was stated today at the navy department, no matter where the responsibility for the firing lay. The vessels will be kept within easy reach of Turkish ports to afford every assistance possible to distressed Americans should emergencies arise.

CARRANZA GOVERNMENT MOVING AWAY FROM VILLA

Washington, Nov. 20.—American consul Silliman, in a dispatch filed in Mexico City at 8:30 last night, reported that Gen. Obregon's troops were en route for Orizaba and moving the Carranza government with them.

Orizaba is about 150 miles east of Mexico City and 70 miles west of Vera Cruz.

Consul Silliman added that the city was in a state of decided unrest. He did not indicate whether the Obregon troops were evacuating the city to leave it undefended before the Carranza forces would be replaced with other Carranza troops, moving down from Queretaro under Gen. Gonzalez, one of Carranza's supporters.

Railroad to Vera Cruz Is Cut
Mr. Silliman added that railroad communication northward and also between the capital and Vera Cruz was interrupted.

Previous reports have left it to be understood that a sufficient garrison would remain in the capital to maintain order and prevent entrance of the Carranza forces until Villa's forces should be in the immediate vicinity and ready to enter, when the Carranza troops would withdraw.

Acting Sec. Lansing conferred today with Acting Sec. Breckinridge of the War Department and Brig. Gen. Scott, chief of staff, over details of the evacuation of Vera Cruz. It was decided that the customs collected during the period of occupation, supposed to aggregate more than $1,000,000, would be brought away by Maj. Gen. Fugate, to be held in this country for delivery to the Government, which is finally recognized.

Foreign Minister Fabella telegraphed the Carranza agency here today a formal declaration that hostilities with Villa had broken out and telling of the appointment of military commanders for the various states and districts.

NAVAL NOTES

Mystery Concerning Officer
Two or three months ago information reached the Navy Department from the U. S. S. Arkansas that Lieutenant Commander A. B. Keating, U. S. Navy, then attached to that vessel, had disappeared suddenly one night under circumstances which were considered as justifying the suspicion that he had committed suicide. While no official announcement of the death of the officer was made at the Navy Department, there was a statement given out describing the circumstances, and the relatives of the officer were duly advised. It now appears that there is reason to believe that the officer is living, and that, instead of committing suicide, he was able to reach the shore. At all events, the conditions have justified the Navy Department in carrying Commander Keating on the register as "absent without authority," whereabouts unknown. Keating was or is a member of the Navy Mutual Aid, and application was recently made for the benefit which would go to his designated beneficiary in the event of his death. The relatives of the officer have been advised that until the death is officially announced it is impossible to pay the benefit. Another case which has engaged the attention of the officers of the Navy Mutual Aid is that of John Corwin, who some years ago was attached to the Navy pay corps and dismissed. Since then he has been employed as a clerk by the Army quartermasters in the Philippines. Two years ago news was received of his death, and a claim for his benefit was made by his relatives in New York, who had continued to pay his assessments in the association. Inquiry was made at Manila, however, and it was found that Corwin was still alive. Recently another claim for the benefit in his case was made on account of the death of Adams Curwin in the Soldiers Home at San Francisco. Upon inquiry it has been found that Adams Curwin was the same as John Corwin, his proper name being John Adams Corwin. The claim was continued by the fact that the death certificate gave Corwin's age at 45, when it was known that he must be nearer 60; but the death and the identity have been established, and the benefit has been paid.

Important Naval Order

It is expected the Secretary of the Navy will approve a general order which will have the effect of reducing the cost to enlisted men of the Navy of the articles of clothing sold to them at stipulated prices. Hitherto the price of the clothing has been slightly above its cost in order to insure the government against actual loss. The surplus fund derived from these transactions has accumulated to such an extent that it is considered possible to reduce the cost and to make the sales on the basis of the actual cost of the various articles. This has been rendered practicable, also, by the saving which has been effected in the manufacture of white clothing at the naval clothing factory at Charleston. The revision of the naval clothing price list will go into effect with the new year and will be in operation for one year, at least. In that time, or by the expiration of the period, it will develop whether it is necessary to make any increase in the price named in the sale of the clothing to members of the enlisted force.

Navy Yard Management

When Secretary Daniels appears before the House naval committee during the next session, he will be able to report the progress, which he has made in changing the management of navy yards. He has established a tentative or experimental system at the navy yard at Brooklyn by the detail of Captain George B. Burd, a former engineer who has been made industrial manager and who will exercise the functions pertaining strictly to the manufacturing and repair departments, the commandant exercising the military control exclusively. The regulations of the technical bureaus with the work at the New York navy yard will be maintained directly with the industrial manager, and matters of this kind will, as hitherto, proceed through the commandant. The fuel and machinery departments, public works, and accounting and general stores are placed under the industrial manager. An exception is made in the case of the civil engineer, who will be in charge of new construction or other new work under contract, in which that officer will be under and report to the commandant. The office of captain of the yard and inspector at New York have been abolished. In other respects there are no changes in the method of procedure. There has been no consolidation, and none is contemplated by Captain Burd. As the matter stands, certain industrial management hitherto coming within the province of the commandant is transferred to the new industrial manager. It is Mr. Daniels' intention to observe how this new system operates and then extend the method to other navy yards if such a proceeding is justified. Secretary Daniels at the last session of Congress was not able to make any definite recommendations regarding the changes in navy yard management. He realized that it was a problem which required considerable attention, and the information which was imparted to him was conflicting and therefore confusing. He informed the House naval committee, where some inquiry was made of him on the subject, that he would be in a position to make suggestions at the coming session of Congress, and in the meantime he would take such steps as he felt he might do in the interest of better management. Army and Navy Register.

Navy Pay Corps Vacancies

It is expected that a report will be filed with the Navy Department during the coming week in regard to the results of the examination of enlisted men of the Navy for appointment to the commissioned grade of assistant paymaster. The examination, as on a previous occasion, was limited to members of the enlisted force, and there are now twelve vacancies in the corps, with another in prospect on account of the resignation of Assistant Paymaster J. H. Maynard, who is now settling his accounts in anticipation of the acceptance of his resignation. Some sixty-five candidates took the examination, and the indications are that not more than six or seven of them will be pronounced as qualified by the board. Some comment has been implied by the requirements which have been prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy in the case of enlisted men of the Navy who wish to enter the competition for appointment as midshipmen at the Naval Academy. This competitive examination is appreciably more difficult than have been the examinations outlined for candidates from the same source for appointment as assistant paymaster. It is pointed out that this may be criticized as an "incongruity" on the part of the Navy Department, which adopts requirements much less severe and exacting in the case of those who are to be commissioned directly than in the case of those who are to take the course at the Naval Academy with a period of four years' instruction before they attain a commissioned position. The circumstance is being used as an example of the advisability of establishing the grade of acting assistant paymaster, as in the case of provisionally appointed medical officers and in the case of appointees under the new law, to the corps of chaplains.

GRESHAM'S CREW FOR DISTRESS WORK

The officers and men of the revenue cutter Gresham have completed a most unusual experience in their lives—that of watching outward bound for sign vessels to see that President Wilson's neutrality regulations were maintained at this port, and now they are ready to start the regular winter work of patrolling the coast to assist vessels in distress, which is somewhat more exciting.

The vessel is now at the Charleston navy yard, where she is being freshened up for her winter service, which begins Dec. 1.

"Yes, the work was something decidedly new, but it began to get a little monotonous," suggested Lieut. M. S. Ray of the cutter, who told of her experiences in the absence of Capt. S. B. Winham, who has been confined to his Brooklyn home with a cold.

"We had practically only one exciting experience during our neutrality patrolling and that was when we fired a blank shot at the frigate Strala.

Portsmouth People Are Doing All They Can for Fellow Sufferers.

Portsmouth testimony has been published to prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills to others in Portsmouth who suffer from bad backs and kidney ills. Last any sufferer doubt this evidence of merit, we produce confirmed proof—statements from Portsmouth people who again endorse Doan's Kidney Pills—confirm their former testimony. Here's a Portsmouth case:

Albert W. Dunlap, 17 School street, Portsmouth, says: "I suffered from kidney disease for years and my back often became so sore and painful that I could scarcely get about. I had other troubles which left no doubt in my mind that my kidneys were disordered. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Phillips' Pharmacy and through their use every symptom of the trouble disappeared. I willingly confirm the endorsement I have previously given, praising Doan's Kidney Pills."

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, Nov. 21.—The officers and men of the revenue cutter Gresham have completed a most unusual experience in their lives—that of watching outward bound foreign vessels to see that President Wilson's neutrality regulations are maintained at this port, and now they are ready to start the regular winter work of patrolling the coast to assist vessels in distress, which is somewhat more exciting. The vessel is now at the Charleston navy yard where she is being freshened up for her winter service, which begins December 1. The Gresham fired but one shot while on this neutrality patrol and this was a blank one at the steamer Strala. The officers of the Gresham had not been notified that she had her clearance papers when they saw her standing out of port. To stop her they fired a blank shot and boarded the vessel. They found her clearance papers O. K., and she was allowed to proceed. The neutrality will now be taken up by the torpedo destroyers Terry and Perkins.

Boston, Nov. 21.—The legal profession as usual, will have more representatives in next year's house than any other profession or business. Clerk Kimball of the house has now received returns from all but a few of the 240 members elect. The returns so far show that there will be 43 lawyers in the house and two law students. Next in number will come the farmers who will total at least 15, and one who gives his occupation as poultry raising. Thirteen members elect are interested in real estate and nine in insurance and several of these combine both lines. There will be 11 manufacturers, 10 commercial travelers, 8 engineers, 8 merchants, 8 clerks, 7 carpenters, 3 physicians, 3 dentists, 2 newspaper reporters, 2 shoemakers, 1 engineer, and 4 civil engineers, 4 members who have retired from business, 2 teachers, 2 livery stable keepers, 2 wool sorters and 2 plumbers among the many others.

Boston, Nov. 21.—Lieut. Governor Barry as chairman of the Committee of Finance and Accounts of the executive council, in conference with Commander Fred F. Walker of the Department of Animal Industry, suggested that the executive council has at its disposal only about $30,000 of its extraordinary expense fund or $100,000,000 and that this balance is practically used up by the demands of regular state institutions for extraordinary expenses. Lieut. Governor Barry stated that the cost of the slaughter of herds in Massachusetts because of the foot and mouth disease up to the present time will reach certainly $25,000.

Boston, Nov. 21.—New federal reserve notes are appearing in circulation. Instead of being smaller as was at one time reported, the die plates are actually a quarter of an inch longer than the national bank notes and the same size as the former United States notes. The notes are greenbacks of new and artistic designs, but have less printing on the face with a seal an inch in diameter, denominated both by number and name the federal reserve bank through which the notes issue. It is perhaps no indication of their Democratic origin that the Vignette of Lincoln is in the middle of the $5 notes and the vignette of Jackson in the middle of the $10 notes.

Boston, Nov. 21.—Prominent charity workers are discovering a danger in the flood of generous gifts to European war sufferers, that the well to do may forget that "charity begins at home" and find only too late in the midst of increasing distress here, that they have exhausted their purses for the benefit of aliens, while appeals for aid right here at home multiply. The Salvation Army reports that during October and November 1100 more men have applied for work than during the same period last year, and has cut its own wage list $3500.

MR. CTUDEBAKER IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH.

After Manufacturer Escapes Unhurt
Accident in Which Motor Cars Are Smashed.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 20.—Despite his eighty-nine years, J. M. Studebaker, Sr., of this city, came through an automobile accident today in which his machine and another were smashed, without a scratch.

Mr. Studebaker was going toward his home with his son, J. M. Studebaker, Jr., and a chauffeur. The motor car skidded in the snow and collided with a machine, driven by J. B. Benfelling. Benfelling was slightly bruised. The hoods of both machines were smashed and the front wheels were knocked off each vehicle.

The accident occurred during the storm which is sweeping over the northern part of Indiana. In exposed places heavy drifts are seriously interfering with suburban traffic.

JAPANESE OWN 331 FARMS

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 20.—Japanese holdings in California land a year and a half after the passage of the state's alien land law, which excluded diplomats of two nations, are set forth in a report made today by the statistician of the State Board of Agriculture.

The Japanese own 331 farms in the state, comprising 12,724 acres and valued at $600,000. Lease holds, which are permitted under the law, amount to 17,694 acres. The Japanese also own 218 town lots valued at $235,074; they have 2548 places of business, with over four million dollars of capital invested in them, and on this capital do business amounting to $10,000,000 yearly. They pay nearly $1,000,000 a year rent for business places. Japanese renters on share basis are not tabulated in the report.

THE CLIMBER

A climber there was, and she made a dash
(Even as you and I)
For a Dame with a name and a bunch of cash—
We called her a purse-proud sort of train,
But the climber (though she was in the splash!)
(Even as you and I)
Oh, the tears we make and the trouble we take
And the excellent things we plan,
For the sake of the woman who would not come
(And nothing would ever induce her to come)
To one outside of her clan.

A climber there was and her goods she spent
(Even as you and I)
Preparing "the season's chief event,"
Though never to such the Grande Dame went,
But the climber her invitations sent
(Even as you and I)
Oh, the life we waste, and the strife we waste,
And the dinners and balls we give
For the sake of the woman who will not come
(Who hasn't the least inclination to come)
And hardly knows where we live.

The climber was pierced through her foolish pride
(Even as you and I)
Which she might have expected before she tried.
For the Grande Dame never even replied;
And some of her smiled, but the most of her cried
(Even as you and I)

And it isn't the shame and it isn't the blame
That hurts like a brand new shoe;
It's coming to know she never would come
And never intended to.
—Carolyn Wells.

DEATH VERDICT FOR "DUFFY, THE GOAT"

Chicago, Nov. 20.—James Francho, also known as "Duffy the Goat," was found guilty today of murdering Isaac Henaguy in a cafe in what was known as the levee. The verdict carried the death penalty. The shooting in the cafe led to many arrests and was a factor in the closing orders which several months ago caused the levee district to be deserted by many of its habitués.

ASKS TO HAVE HIS OFFICE ABOLISHED

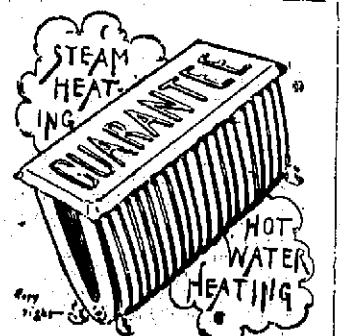

New York, Nov. 20.—City Chamberlain Henry Bruere told the finance committee of the board of aldermen today that his position, the salary of which is $12,000, ought to be abolished. The work of his office, he said, should be transferred to the finance department and done by a bureau of credits, and his own duties could be performed by a deputy controller at a salary of $10,000.

TEN PAINTERS BURNED ON TENDER FULTON

Quincy, Mass., Nov. 20.—Ten painters employed in putting on the finishing touches to the submarine tender Fulton preparatory to turning her over to the government, were severely burned in a fireback of one of the tenders oil-burning engines today. The Fulton is at the yards of her builders, the Fore River Shipbuilding corporation.

THE FURNACE

Now that the furnace is working, life is no longer a dream; You must be up in the morning the moment the work whistles scream. Down you must go to the cellar and give the dull fire a shake. To make sure of comfort for breakfast, when the rest of the folks are awake.

Maybe the fire is sulky, mullish, recalcitrant, slow, All out, except in the middle, and there just a moribund glow. Then you must coax and nurse it and open the draft damper wide. Gingerly put on fresh fuel, building it up on each side.

Or it may be that King Winter all his good nature has lost, Mercury down below zero, windows all covered with frost. Then you must stay in the cellar, though it may harrow your soul. And with a prodigious shovel ceaselessly put on the coal.

Then you must dig out the ashes, putting and grunting the while, Marvelling all through the winter, watching the growth of the pile; Or it may be that you sift them, being so poor that you must, Deftly discarding the cinders, and filling your lungs with the dust.

Trouble begins with the winter as soon as the winter begins; Having to manage a furnace is penance for all our sins. Winter's fine bracing season to poets a soul-stirring theme; But now that the furnace is working, life is no longer a dream.

ARMY TO HAVE POWERFUL RADIO STATION

Washington, Nov. 20. — A powerful army wireless station is to be erected at Fort Leavenworth, Kas., immediately, by order of the War Department, to be used as a relay station from which the Arlington towers at Washington can communicate with any other radio station in the country. The construction quartermaster has been ordered to advertise at once for bids for the work. There already is in operation here a very powerful station, which frequently has caught messages as far away as the coast of Brazil, and which, when conditions are favorable, can converse with Vera

The plant is to be increased in size and power, as well as to be used in connection with the instruction course at the general service and staff college. The present single mast is to be heightened and a second mast constructed, while all apparatus of the newest type is to be installed.

Its situation practically in the center of the country makes the Fort Leavenworth wireless station one of the most important in the country to the army. An invasion in force of the country might put the Arlington station at Washington out of business, but it is extremely improbable that any invading army ever could reach as far inland as this post, and the wireless station here could be used not only for transmitting messages to any other army coast, but could reach the fleet at sea, as well as Panama, and possibly Hawaii.

ABANDONED SHIP OFF KENNEBUNKPORT

Kennebunkport, Me., Nov. 20.—After one unsuccessful attempt to escape from this vessel, which was in danger of being driven on to the shoals a mile off Kennebunkport Point (Capt. George L. Hardy of Deer Island and the crew of four men of the three-masted schooner Fannie and May finally succeeded in reaching land on their second attempt today.

The vessel was anchored in deep water and with the wind moderating there appeared to be a possibility that her anchors would hold and she might be saved, although there was some water in the hold when the men abandoned her.

On the second attempt to reach shore the men were taken in tow by Harry Chapman, who went to their assistance with a motor boat, and were brought safely to port.

Capt. Hardy said he had a terrible passage after leaving Vineyard Haven, Monday morning, while bound from New York to Portland with fer-tilizer, and he never expected to see land again.

First the schooner was blown off by a northwester. Then (the wind shifted to the eastward and the wind snaw and gale began last night, Capt. Hartly looked for the best anchorage possible under the circumstances. He had lost his bearings and did not know he had selected one of the worst places along the Maine coast.

The schooner rolled heavily all during the night, and the waves frequently broke through the cabin windows and doors.

Four Schooners Driven Ashore at Provincetown

Provincetown, Nov. 20.—Four fishing schooners, the Mathew Orler, Natalie Nelson, Iona Doratha and Icteeba, were torn from their anchorages during the gale early today and driven ashore on the west side of the harbor. The Rebecca had her stern smashed, but the other three were not damaged, and it is expected they will be floated at high water this afternoon.

The gale last night on the end of the Cape was the hardest since last spring.

COLD STORM SWEEPS DOWN

Lowest Temperatures for Nov. 20 in Forty Years—Freezing Temperatures May Reach Palm Beach—More Snow Tonight.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The cold wave, with hoaræ snow, which has swept rapidly down from the north west and spread over the South Atlantic states from Virginia to Florida today has forged temperatures to the lowest recorded in November in forty years. Weather bureau officials predicted killing frost and freezing temperatures would extend as far south as the coast as Palm Beach. The cold also extends northwest from Florida through the Ohio valley and over the Plains states. The wave has moved southwesterly and will be dissipated in a few days.

A storm originating on the Carolina coast Wednesday morning has extended to New England and caused gales and rain on the coast there and heavy snow in the interior of New England and northern New York.

"POTASH & PERLMUTTER"

Direct from its second year at the Cuban Theatre, New York City, "Potash & Perlmutter" comes to the Portsmouth Theatre, on Wednesday, Dec. 2. No announcement could be of greater interest to the theatre-goers of this city who have heard so much about this most remarkable of comedies.

date garment in three pieces" made from the material in Montague Glass' famous stories in the Saturday Evening Post, and "trimm'd with a thousand laughs, and guaranteed to fit all sizes and ages." No play within a play—memory of the oldest theatre-goer made a quicker or greater hit in New York than this delightful dramatization of the joys and sorrows, trials and triumph of the two quaint, lovable partners who are business men to the tips of their fingers but soft-hearted to a fault, and Manager A. H. Woods sends the production here direct from its Broadway home with a brilliant company of artists all of whom have made fame for themselves by their delightful interpretation of Mr. Glass' unique characters.

Pinchide and polities, love and intrigues and styles contribute to the stirring story of "Potash & Perlmutter." Abe and Morris are seen first in their modest downtown factory salesroom on the verge of bankruptcy, because a rival firm has employed a prize designer whose Arverne Sassag has no equal in the trade. How Abe and Morris secure this designer and then, when on the way to a fortune, risk their all to save from unjust imprisonment a poor young Russian refugee; how they get out of their difficulties while Morris wins the designer for life and Abe gets a fine son-in-law; how the partners quarrel and make up and quarrel and make up again and again, is told in three acts that fairly teem with laughs, although at times the tears will come to the eyes of the audience.

It is the wonderful heart-interest of "Potash & Perlmutter" that accounts as much as anything else for its wonderful grip on the public. It is intensely human, intensely true.

THE CHURCH AND PEACE

The trouble with the church is that it forgets, in time of stress, as the medieval Church at its best did not forget, that it is indeed an international organization, existing not for the salvation of England or Russia or America, but for the salvation and control of men. If it understood its own definition and mission, if it had as much faith as fear, ten apostolic voices would on the morrow become ten thousands and no man shall say that even the Christmas bells might not be bells of hope.—Boston Advertiser.

If any one thing is clear about the Christian religion, it is that its doctrine is the doctrine of peace and not of war. Its very heralding was as a new era of peace and good will among men; and its great international apostle urged the nations to remember that they were of one blood. "See how these Christians love one another!" was the tribute of the encircling paganism in the first Christian centuries.—Boston Advertiser.

The perfected church is in the making, 1900 years seems a long time but in the plan of God with whom "One day is as a thousand years and a thousand years as one day," it may well take courage. The peace the church seeks is more than a truce. It is the salvation of the world through the regeneration of men.

CELEBRATED THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. James Warburton First Became Acquainted While Working in Portsmouth Steam Factory.

Mr. and Mrs. James Warburton of No. 48 Brewster street are today celebrating their fifth anniversary of their marriage by entertaining friends from Boston, Concord, Somersworth, and this city. At noon the venerable couple and their guests sat down to a sumptuous repast prepared under the direction of the hostess.

James Warburton was born in Stockport, England, November 20, 1844, the son of William and Harriet Warburton. When he was only 12 years old his parents came to this city and shortly after their arrival he found employment in the Portsmouth Steam Factory, afterwards called the Kearsarge Mills. It was while working in the steam factory that he became acquainted with Miss Mary Collins and the courtship resulted in their marriage on November 21, 1864, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Cannavan, rector of the church of the Immaculate Conception. When work became slack at the mill Mr. Warburton went to South Newmarket, now Newfields, and learned the trade of moulder. He worked at his trade at the Portsmouth Machine

Company and at the navy yard. He was for a number of years attached to the Portsmouth Fire Department, being a member of Old Atlantic, No. 6, which occupied the house on Maplewood avenue, now occupied by the Veteran Firemen. He was one of the detail selected by Mayor Thomas R. O. Marvin to go to the Boston fire on the occasion of the big fire in 1873 and assisted in saving the Old South church. He is a member of Osgood Lodge, No. 48, I. O. O. F.

Mrs. Warburton is a native of Ireland but came to this country with her parents when a young girl, first locating in Great Falls, but for upwards of a half century has made her home in this city. Since their marriage they have practically resided in the same locality, occupying houses on Sudbury and Brewster streets.

Those present to assist Mr. and Mrs. Warburton in celebrating their golden wedding were Mr. and Mrs. King, Mrs. Nellie Spurgin of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Harry May, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Wilder of this city, and Mrs. John Nixon of Concord, and Mrs. John Mills of Somersworth.

PRIZES AWARDED THE WINNERS

Girls' Club Holds Novel Entertainment on Friday Evening.

Another enjoyable affair took place at the Portsmouth Girls' club on Friday evening, which took the form of an advertisement party.

Over fifty were in attendance and as soon as the girls entered the fun began.

Advertisements were pasted on cardboard and hung upon the walls of the room, and the one who guessed what advertisement the familiar pictures represented was awarded a prize.

Two little girls came in costume representing Red Cross adhesive plaster and Old Dutch cleanser.

All kinds of guessing and ring games were indulged in, including "My Ship Came in Loaded With ——" and the conests, "The Romance of a Shirt-waist" and others.

Prizes were awarded to the winners. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Miss Anna Winslow was chairman of the committee, assisted by Catherine Soule and Elizabeth Lucey.

A social dance was then in order until closing time. Miss Dorothy Donahue furnished music on the piano. A pleasing feature was the exhibition dancing by the Misses Slossberg and Cohen, who delighted those present with a graceful presentation of the Maxixe. Miss Cecelia Ham played for the exhibition dancing.

Another change in the weather. It is only a matter of routine now.

We show a fine variety of fabrics in this model, nice soft woolly ones and others in tight twisted cloths that will "stand all kinds of wear." As small as 4 years in size and all other sizes above in Balmacaans. Other styles from 2½ years. The prices will please you, too.

METROPOLITAN OPERA COMPANY

Metropolitan Opera House

Giulio Gatti-Casazza, General Manager

New York, March 28, 1914.

Gentlemen:

Since November, 1911, this Company has been using, exclusively, the Hardman Pianos. There have been eighteen of these instruments in constant use in the dressing rooms of the artists, in the orchestra, and elsewhere for practical work, besides a large number used by the artists in their private apartments, and it gives me much pleasure to express on behalf of this Company and also the artists taking part in the performances, the thorough satisfaction we all feel in these instruments.

The fine tone quality, fullness and splendid durability of the Hardman Pianos are fully recognized by every one here, and it is very evident that they must be exceedingly well built to stand the usage to which they are subjected, owing to the extremely heavy demands which we make upon them. We shall start upon the coming season of 1914-1915 with complete assurance in regard to the unqualified satisfaction that the Hardman Pianos will give to us, and to our artists.

Believe me, Very truly yours, JOHN BROWN, Business Comptroller.

Messrs. Hardman, Peck & Co., No. 433 Fifth Avenue, New York City. The above notable endorsement speaks for itself. I represent the Hardman in Portsmouth.
